Selena's music scene

Selena Gomez is known for her catchy* pop music. She has worked with many other musicians including Kygo, Marshmello, DJ Snake and Charlie Puth. ### From Disney to Dolittle

If you saw the recent film Dolittle in the original English version, you heard Selena voicing* the giraffe. It's not her first voice role – she has voiced many characters*, including Mavis in the Hotel Transylvania saga. Her first role was in the TV series Barney & Friends when she was ten years old. She then became a success on Disney TV, acting and singing in Hannah Montana and playing a witch* in Wizards of Waverly Place.

Selena and immigration

Selena is executive producer* of a Netflix documentary series about illegal immigrants, Living Undocumented*. It's a subject close* to her – in the 1970s*, her aunt crossed* the border from Mexico into the USA hidden* in a truck*. Selena's grandparents followed*, and their son, Selena's father, was born* in Texas. Selena knew that some people would criticize her for talking about immigration. "The worst* criticism I can imagine is still nothing compared to what undocumented immigrants face every day," she says.

Stars get* sick too

2016 was a difficult year for Selena. She was doing a world tour* when she suddenly had to cancel* all her concerts in Europe and South America. The press reported that she was having problems with drug addiction, but, in* fact, Selena was suffering from an illness* called lupus that affected her kidneys*. Thanks* to her best friend, who donated* one of her kidneys to Selena, she was able* to return to a normal life!

Advice* from an Insta queen

For two years, Selena was the most-followed* person on Instagram, and now has 162 million followers. When she realised Instagram was making her depressed*, she stopped using it for a while*. "For my generation ... social* media has been terrible," Selena says. "Taking breaks is really important."

Selena Gomez

Selena took her time to make her third album and it was worth* it. "This year, everything kind* of just started pouring* out of me," she says. ## Dua Lipa

They like her new funky disco style, but they also appreciate the fun tone of her videos. Dua just can't do anything wrong* at the moment ...

Halsey

If you like K-pop, you may know Halsey – the American singer who sings on "Boy with Luv" by BTS. Halsey wanted more people to like her music, so she changed her style. And it worked! Her single "Without Me", was number one in the USA and now a new album is on its way* too...

BLUE JEANS...

Are they green?

Jeans are stylish and “hard-wearing” – a single pair of jeans can last* for years. But are they eco-friendly* or bad for the planet?

BLUE JEANS were originally dyed* with natural indigo dye, but today most blue jeans are coloured with synthetic dye* ... and this pollutes* rivers near textile factories*. It's a catastrophe in Xintang, a town in southern China, where 300 million pairs of jeans are produced each year – that's 800,000 pairs a day!

Nana studio/AdobeStock

DISTRESSED* JEANS are created by treating jeans with chemicals, acids, resins, and even washing them with stones* or blasting* them with sand*. “Sandblasting*” is dangerous for factory* workers* because the silica* dust harms* their lungs*. The process has been banned* in many countries, but still* continues.

Dhiraj Singh/Bloomberg/Getty Images

THE WATER PROBLEM
Producing and wearing* jeans uses a lot of water! The Levi Strauss company says a typical pair of blue jeans consumes 3,479 litres of water during its life. This includes* the water needed to cultivate the cotton and manufacture the jeans, but also the water used to wash them when they are dirty*.

Robin Hammond/PANOS/REA

CAN WE MAKE GREENER JEANS?

The answer is yes! Brands* like Levi's are now adopting more eco-friendly* ways of producing jeans, using less* water. Brands like Uniqlo and Wrangler are also trying to reduce energy and chemicals. It's a start, but there is still* a long* way to go before jeans are 100% green.

Xintang, in southern China, is the denim capital of the world. It produces one in every three pairs of jeans sold* worldwide*.

HOW YOU CAN WEAR* GREENER JEANS...

Here are some ideas for you to wear "greener" jeans.

1) Recycle your jeans

Give or donate your old jeans to someone* else.

2) Buy less* jeans.

Don't be like Americans who buy four new pairs every year!

3) Wash your jeans less.

Wear your jeans at least* 10 times before putting them in the washing machine.

4) Buy second-hand*

jeans rather* than new ones.

5) Mend* your old jeans, or customize them rather than buying a new pair!

THE STATUE OF LIBERTY

Text by Lesley Orman-Grenon

This famous green statue is 134 years old. France gave it to the city of New York as a sign of friendship*. Today, it is a symbol of American freedom*....

The torch

The statue's right* arm is 13 metres long. It holds* the torch, which is lit* at night. It's a symbol of enlightenment* - the statue's official name is "Liberty Enlightening* the World".

The crown*

The seven spikes* of the crown* represent the seven seas* and the seven continents. Liberty's head is five metres high*. For her face, the sculptor Bartholdi used his mother as a model!

The tablet

Liberty has a tablet in her left* hand. The tablet represents knowledge* and has an important date inscribed* on it: July 4, 1776. It's the day America declared independence from Great Britain.

Welcome to New York

The Statue of Liberty is on Liberty Island in New York Harbour*. In the 1900s*, it was the first thing that European immigrants saw when they arrived in the USA. After weeks at sea*, Lady Liberty was a welcoming* sign of freedom* and democracy.

Paul Brown/Shutterstock

93 metres

That's the total height* of the monument. The Lady in her green robes is 46 metres high* and stands* on a granite base of 47 metres. Visitors can climb* the 354 steps* from the bottom* to the crown*!

Made in France

France gave the Statue of Liberty to the USA in 1886. Frédéric Auguste Bartholdi and Alexandre Gustave Eiffel designed and built* it in Paris. The copper* parts travelled* by boat to New York, where they were reassembled.

Goddess* of freedom

The statue represents Libertas, the Roman goddess* of freedom, in her flowing* robes. Classical representations of freedom are often female!

Did you know?

Why is the Statue of Liberty green? Because it is made of copper* and copper turns green when it oxidizes. In 1886, when the statue was assembled, it was brown!

JAMES BOND

The world's favourite spy

Nicole Dove/Danjaq LLC/MGM

After 24 films and 60 years on cinema and TV screens, Bond is back in a new film, No Time To Die. But why is the British spy still so popular today?

A CHARMING HERO

James Bond, codename* 007, is the world's most famous spy*. Fans love his intelligence, sophistication, good* looks, elegance and charm. He is an action hero who fights* enemies to protect* his country. Bond only answers* to M, who is the boss of the British spy organisation, MI6.

Danjaq/MGM LLC

My name is Bond.
James Bond.

MEMORABLE VILLAINS*

Every Bond story needs a villain*. These villains are often cold and calculating, with a lot of deadly* gadgets, such as lipstick* bombs and poison-tipped* razor shoes. Some have deformities which make them scarier*, such as Dr. No's metal* hands, or Jaws, whose metal* teeth can bite* through anything.

James Bond (played by Roger Moore) with Jaws, famous for his metal* teeth in the 1977 film, The Spy Who Loved Me.

Moviestore/Shutterstock

EXOTIC LOCATIONS*

007's glamorous* lifestyle is an important ingredient in the films. Bond pursues the villains* to exotic locations* such as Mexico, Thailand and the Swiss Alps. He wears a tuxedo*, goes to casinos and meets beautiful women. This is the way of life that author Ian Fleming experienced in Jamaica when he wrote the first James Bond book, Casino Royale (1953).

Bert Gann / Danjaq / MGM / LLC

SUPER COOL GADGETS

Bond gets all his gadgets from Q. His most famous gadget is his Aston Martin DB5 car, equipped with tire* slashers, machine* guns and an ejector* seat. Some of the most incredible gadgets in the Bond films include* a mobile phone that becomes a stun* gun, a Rolex watch with a rotating* saw, and a rocket* pack which allows* Bond to escape* from danger!

ALWAYS MODERN

The film saga continues to evolve*. In fact, Bond has remained* popular after all these years because the characters* evolve. In the new film, No Time To Die, there is a female 00 agent, called Nomi, played by the actress Lashana Lynch. What other surprises does the new James Bond film have for us?

Question from Loïse, age 14: What is your favourite country and why?

Bali

My favourite country is Bali, an island* which belongs* to Indonesia. I love this place* because I went there and I think it's the most beautiful place in the world. The culture isn't the same as in France. The Balinese are Buddhist. They are so kind*, lovely and pleasant. Bali is very sunny, the beaches are so amazing with blue sky and water. For me, it is paradise!

Ethan, age 13

USA

My favourite country is the United States because when I went there, I met* very welcoming* and friendly* people. When we were lost*, American people came automatically to help us and talk to us. Nothing seems impossible to them, they imagined incredible cities like Las Vegas and built* them!

Evan, age 13

ENGLAND

So, my favourite country is England. I like it because it's friendly* and because the food is delicious. I also love the little bay* windows on the red-brick* houses – they look* like the houses in the 1940s*.

Nina, age 13

Australia

My favourite country is Australia, because there is beautiful scenery* and extraordinary animals.

Ambre, age 13

New Zealand

My favourite country is New Zealand because I have dreamed* of going to New Zealand since* I was a child! This country is beautiful, the landscape* is varied and there is the sea! I hope* to go to New Zealand someday, to enjoy* the sun and beaches!
